- Scientists Victor Ambros and Gary Ruvkun have won the 2024 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine.
- They discovered microRNA, a new class of tiny RNA molecules that play a crucial role in gene regulation.
- It revealed a completely new principle of gene regulation that turned out to be essential for multicellular organisms, including humans.
- It is now known that the human genome codes for over one thousand microRNAs.
- The 2023 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine was awarded to Katalin Karikó and Drew Weissman.

- American researchers have found a method to be able to trace the origin and the destination of forever chemicals.
- These chemicals that are scientifically known as per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS).
- They are generally useful in applications such as water-proofing, heat resistance, detergents, food packaging and non-stick technologies.
- They are known to stay in the environment virtually forever and contribute to environmental degradation which adversely impacts the health of all organisms including human beings.

- Non-stick cookware has long been hailed as a convenient option for cooking due to its non-stick surface.
- This makes it easy to clean and requires less oil for cooking.
- One of the primary concerns with non-stick cookware is perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) and perfluorooctanesulfonic acid (PFOS).
- They are the chemicals used in producing non-stick coatings such as Teflon.
- When non-stick cookware is heated to high temperatures, these chemicals can release toxic fumes into the air, posing health risks to those exposed.
- Inhalation of these fumes has been linked to various health issues, including respiratory problems, thyroid disorders, and even certain types of cancer.
- PFOA belongs to a larger class of chemicals known as per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS).
- While PFOA is largely phased out, other PFAS compounds may still be present in some non-stick cookware.
- Non-stick cookware, particularly those coated with polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE or Teflon), can release toxic fumes when overheated.
- They potentially causing flu-like symptoms in humans and being fatal to birds.

- Scientists treated Hussain Sagar lake water with 'CV technology' and found that the water met the WHO and Indian standards.
- This chemical treatment is faster than a sewage treatment plant that uses a biological method of treatment.
- The researchers claimed an improvement in BOD (means lower level of BOD) level and 12 quality parameters in the treated water, significant improvement in the total dissolved solids and reduction in metal ions.

BOD (BIOLOGICAL OXYGEN DEMAND)

- It's a measurement of amount of dissolved oxygen needed by aerobic biological micro organism to decompose the organic matter present in the water.
- Its level indicates the quality of water or pollution level of the water.
- Lower level of BOD indicates the water's suitability to sustain the life dependent on oxygen.

- Maharashtra became the first state to pass a Lokayukta Bill.
- It aims to bring the Chief Minister of the state and the council of ministers under the ambit of the anti-corruption watchdog.
- Maharashtra Lokayukta and Upa-Lokayukta Act of 1971, is currently in force in the state.
- Under the existing law, the anti-corruption ombudsman could only recommend action against government officials.
- However, the new Act empowers the Lokayukta and Upa-Lokayukta to direct the state agencies to investigate a corruption case.

Backward Classes Commission of Tan

September 16, 2021 @ 11:11 am

- The Tamil Nadu government has reconstituted its Backward Classes Commission.
- Retired Justice R.Thandapani will head the Commission now.
- It is for assessing requests of inclusion and compliance of ever inclusion or non inclusion in the list of Other Backward Classes (OBC).

Background

- The first Backward Classes Commission in Tamil Nadu was formed on November 12, 1950 when the DMK was in power.
- It was known as Saravanan Commission.
- Saravanan Commission recommended the introduction of 'Creamy Layer' among the OBC at the state.
- In pursuance of the directions of the Supreme Court in the Mandal Commission cases or Indira Sawhney cases in 1992, the State government had constituted a present-day Tamil Nadu Backward Classes Commission.
- It was formed under the Chairmanship of retired Justice K Ramaswami.
- It is formed under Article 16(4) read with Article 340 of the Constitution of India.

- The strike eventually came to an end in October through the mediation of C. Natesa Mudaliar.
- Gou's Bill, introduced in 1921, brought about an amendment in the Special Marriages Act, sanctioning the legal validity of inter-caste marriages.
- In 1921, the Justice Party government of the Rajas of Panagal introduced reservations for backward classes in government jobs.
- In August 1921, the First communal Government Order was passed.
- As per the order, 44 percent of jobs were reserved for non-Brahmins, 16 percent for Brahmins, 16 percent for Muslims, 16 percent for Anglo-Indians and Christians and eight percent for the Scheduled Castes.
- However, this Act did not guarantee adequate quotas for scheduled castes.
- In 1922, MC Rajah passed a resolution demanding that the terms Paraiya and Panchama be dropped from official usage and instead be substituted with Adi-Dravida and Adi-Andhra.

Communal G.O – 1921

September 16, 2021 @ 10:05 am

- It was issued 100 years ago on this day (September 16th) by the Justice Party government.
- It sought "to increase the proportion of posts held by non-Brahmins," which also encompassed Indian Christians, Muslims and Adi-Dravidar, in the Provincial Services.
- It aims to empower non-Brahmins and securing the space due to them in administration and politics.
- D.R. Ambedkar had sought Political reservation for Dalits before the Southborough Committee in 1919.
- In 1920, Muthiah Mudaliar, the then Education Minister under the Subba Rayan Government, introduced the Communal G.O. to implement the 1921 order.

Update in BCs list of Tamil Nadu

- The Tamil Nadu State government has allowed the delimiting of the Thuluvai Vallalar community from Agamudayars in the list of Backward Classes (BCs).
- This marks the end of the 80-year-long "association" of the community with the Agamudayars, who are one of the three constituents of 'Mukhalathars', the other two being Kallars and Maravars.
- The First BC Commission, headed by veteran civil servant A.H. Saranathan, was constituted during November 1969-70.
- This Commission, used the term 'Agamudayars', had received representations that "like the Kallars, Agamudayars also migrated from the southern districts but there is no relation between them and the Agamudayan Sthalavar and the Thuluvai Vallalar of Madras.
- The Second BC panel (1982-83) was headed by J. A. Annadurai.
- The Second Commission had carried out a caste survey; stated that no separate count of the Thuluvai Vallalar was possible, going by the way they had identified themselves.

- The Supreme Court declined to intervene in a petition filed by 2 successful NECT (National Eligibility cum Entrance Test) candidates from Tamil Nadu.
- According to the petition, the 69% quota was against the fundamental right enshrined in the constitution that no person should be discriminated against in the name of his/her caste, religion, gender, sex, etc.

- The petition argued that the apex court had capped the reservation at 50%.
- Consequently, Tamil Nadu had passed a law enabling 69% reservation. The law was included in the Ninth Schedule of the Constitution.
- The Backward Class Commission, which was directed to assess the justifiability of 69% reservation on objective criteria, filed a report in July 2011.
- The petition said the report was without any objective criteria and simply confirmed the 69% reservation on the basis of the Annadurai Shankar Commission report of 1983.

- The Tamil Nadu government has told the Madras High Court that 89% of the State's population is already eligible for the 69% reservation provided in the education and public employment.
- Therefore, the State cannot be compelled to implement the additional 10% reservation for others under the category of Economically Weaker Sections (EWS).
- The litigant had sought a direction to the State government to implement the 10% EWS quota for admission to all higher educational institutions in the State.
- 100% door-to-door enumeration of castes and communities in the State was carried out in 1983, following the directions issued by the Supreme Court on October 14, 1982.
- Ambasankar Commission (1983) had revealed that the proportion of socially and educationally backward classes in the State, including the most backward classes and de-notified communities, was 68% of the total populace.
- The 2011 decennial census also found the population of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes in Tamil Nadu to be 20% and 1.1%, respectively.

Wenters in government job and education.

- Besides, the state was also in a hurry to conduct the case regarding the 69 per cent reservation for Tamil Nadu, pending before the Supreme Court.
- The Commission is also the first such panel to be put in place in Tamil Nadu since the 1950s.

Tamil Nadu Backwardness

- The First Backward Classes Commission led by A.H Saranathan in 1969 avoided the pre-independence census data to arrive at population of various castes in Tamil Nadu.
- In 1983, the Second Backward Classes Commission led by J.A. Annadurai conducted caste-wise socio-economic and educational survey through door-to-door enumeration.
- It submitted a report in 1985.
- The state government entered the Tamil Nadu Backward Classes, Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes Act, 1982 to protect the existing 69% quota.
- It was included in the Ninth Schedule of the Constitution by the 76th Amendment 1994.

- Theagaraya Chetty is regarded as one of the founders of the non-Brahmin movement in Tamil Nadu and the first to lead the movement.

Early Life

- Theagaraya Chetty was born in Egathur, Madras Presidency in Telugu speaking Devanga family on 27 April 1852.
- On graduation in 1873, he entered public life and served as a member of the Corporation of Madras from 1882 to 1922.
- He served as a member or Councillor of the Corporation of Madras for 40 years from 1882 till 1922.
- He also served as the President of the Corporation of Madras from 1920 to 1923.
- He was the first non-official President of the Madras Corporation.
- He was elected to the Madras Legislative Council in 1910.
- He was one of the founder-members of the South Indian Chamber of Commerce and served as its President from 1910 to 1921.
- Theagaraya Chetty fought on behalf of the Indian Patriot newspaper and its editor Karunakara Menon against Dr T. M. Nair who later became his close associate.
- Theagaraya Chetty served as a member of the Indian National Congress before founding the South Indian Liberal Federation in 1916.

- The agitation was also supported by Tamil scholars like Maraimalai Adigal, Somasundara Bharathi, K. Appadurai, Madiyarsan, A. P. Viswanatham and Ilakkuvanar.
- Observing an anti-Hindi day on 1 July and 3 December 1938.
- On 21 February 1940, Madras Governor Erskine issued a press communique withdrawing compulsory Hindi teaching and making it optional.

Justice Party – President (1938–1944)

- A political party known as the South Indian Libertarian Federation (commonly referred to as Justice Party) was founded in 1916, principally to oppose the economic and political power of the Brahmin groups.
- The party's goal was to render social justice to the non-Brahmin groups.
- V. Ramasamy took over the leadership of the party in 1938.

Dravidar Kazhagam

- At a rally in Salem under the leadership of Periyar on 27 August 1944, anandurai passed a resolution and declared that the justice party would henceforth be known as the Dravidar Kazhagam.
- It focused its attention on the liberation of women, women's education, willing marriage, widow marriage, orphanages and mercy homes.

- The two leaders often clashed at Council meetings even though both were non-Brahmins.
- Natesa Mudaliar realised that if these two leaders could be brought together it would give the Non-Brahmin movement a fast forward push.
- Thus, Natesa Mudaliar was able to reconcile their differences.

Dravidian Movement

- The Madras Non-Brahmin Association was formed in 1909 by two lawyers from Madras city, P. Subramanyam and M. Purushotham Naidu.
- Theagaraya Chetty did not involve himself in the movement until 1912, when the Madras United League was formed.
- It was formed by disaffected non-Brahmin members of the bureaucracy like Saravana Pillai, G. Veerasamy Naidu, Doraiswami Naidu and S. Narayanaswamy Naidu with C. Natesa Mudaliar as its Secretary.
- Later in 1912 itself (October), Madras United League was renamed as Madras Dravidian Association.
- It was the first time the word Dravidian was used for a political entity.
- Panaganti Ramarajayengar, later the Raja of Panagal was elected its President.

- The Tamil Nadu State Department of Archaeology (TNSDA) began excavations in Keeladi, Konthagal, and Agaram in Sivagangai district.
- The seventh phase was conducted by the Tamil Nadu State Department of Archaeology
- Keeladi is an urban settlement that is at least 2,600 years old.
- Ring wells were the highlight of the seventh phase of this excavation.
- Ring wells may have been used as soak pits or draw wells.
- This is the first time that the Tamil Nadu State Archaeology Department has left the quadrants open without filling it with soil after the excavation ended as it plans to establish an open site museum.
- When the museum is established then it would be a first-of-its-kind to be established in Tamil Nadu.
- the image of a fish imprinted on a ring well and the engraved coins found here strengthened the theory that the people who lived here had commercial transactions with other parts of the country, namely north India.

pornographic acts involving children attract criminal liability under the POCSO Act.

- This verdict has overturned a contentious Madras High Court decision from earlier this year.
- The Madras High Court had previously held that "mere possession" of such material did not violate the law unless the individual had actively "used a child or children for pornographic purposes."
- But the SC concluded that not only physical possession but also "constructive possession" would also fall under Section 15 of the POCSO Act, even if the person did not actively produce or distribute the content.
- Constructive possession is the power to control the material, combined with knowledge of that control.

- The basic concept of food security globally is to ensure that all people, at all times, should get access to the basic food for their active and healthy life and is characterized by availability, access, utilization and stability of food
- Food security can also be derived from the fundamental right to life enshrined in Article 21 of the Constitution.
- So, it can be interpreted to include right to live with human dignity, which may include the right to food and other basic necessities.
- In pursuance of this, the enactment of the National Food Security Act, (NFSA) 2013 marks a paradigm shift in the approach to food security from welfare to the rights-based approach.

- Prime Minister Narendra Modi said that India will reach its net-zero carbon emission target by 2070 as he laid out the country's climate action plan.
- PM Modi announced to the world the five commitments or 'Amrit tatva' that India would meet as it works 'very hard' to tackle climate change-related issues.
- Commitment 1 - By 2030, India will increase its non-fossil capacity to 500 gigawatts.
- Commitment 2 - By 2030, India will fulfil 50 percent of its energy requirements with renewable energy.
- Commitment 3 - India will reduce one billion tonnes of the total projected carbon emission between now and 2030.
- Commitment 4 - By 2030, India will reduce its economy's carbon intensity to less than 45%.
- Commitment 5 - India will achieve the target of net zero emissions by 2070.

- Recently, India announced that it will reach carbon neutrality by 2070 as part of a five-point action plan that included reducing emissions to 50% by 2030.
- India made this pledge at the Conference of the Parties (COP) 26 climate summit in Glasgow, Scotland.
- It also urged developed countries to deliver on their promise of climate financing.

PM MAKES FIVE PLEDGES

- 1 India will increase its non-fossil energy capacity to 500GW by 2030
- 2 India will meet 50% of its energy requirements from renewable energy by 2030
- 3 India will reduce the total projected carbon emissions by one billion tonnes from now to 2030
- 4 By 2030, India will reduce the carbon intensity of its economy by 45% from a previous target of 35%
- 5 By 2070, India will achieve the target of net zero

WHAT IS NET ZERO?

Net zero refers to a balance between emissions of greenhouse gases and offset by the absorption of an equivalent amount from the atmosphere. Equity and net zero targets is a critical measure to successfully tackle climate change and its devastating consequences

PLEDGES BY TOP THREE EMITTERS

- China: Beijing committed to new pledges on Monday. It previously pledged net zero by 2060.
- UNITED STATES: The US passed historic legislation to spend $369 bn to boost renewable power and electric vehicles. It has pledged net zero by 2050.
- RUSSIA: The country's economy will become carbon neutral by the year 2060.
